

5 AI Prompts Every Local Business Owner Should Use

Copy, personalize the words in [brackets], and keep a human in control of the final result.

01 Turn rough notes into a polished email

CUSTOMER COMMUNICATION

Act as a helpful assistant for a [type of business]. Turn these notes into a warm, professional email: [paste notes]. Goal: [desired action]. Keep it under 150 words. Do not invent facts. End with one clear next step.

02 Create a week of useful social posts

MARKETING

Create 5 social posts for a [business type] serving [location]. Audience: [ideal customer]. Focus on [offer/problem]. Use a helpful local tone, one idea per post, and a simple call to action. Avoid hype and unsupported claims.

03 Respond to a customer review

REPUTATION

Write a thoughtful public response to this [positive/negative] review: [paste review]. Thank the customer, address the specific point, protect their privacy, and invite an offline conversation if needed. Keep it calm and under 90 words.

04 Turn a meeting into an action plan

OPERATIONS

Organize these meeting notes: [paste notes]. Return: 1) decisions, 2) action items with owner and deadline, 3) unanswered questions, and 4) a short follow-up email. Mark missing information instead of guessing.

05 Find the best task to automate

AI STRATEGY

Interview me to find one repetitive task worth automating in my [business type]. Ask one question at a time about frequency, time spent, errors, tools, and risk. Then recommend the safest first workflow, expected benefit, and where human review belongs.

THE 30-SECOND SAFETY CHECK

Remove private data | Verify names, dates, prices, and claims | Edit for your voice | A person approves before sending